EW YORK, Nov. 4 .- President N Wilson opened the administration campaign for its national defense program in a comprehensive and carefully prepared address delivered here tonight at the Manhattan club banquet. He deciared solemnly that the United States had no aggressive purposes but must be prepared to de-fend itself to assume "full liberty and self development." Significantly, he said, that "with ourselves in this great ur own hemisphere, Stales, but for them the follest fre

It is almost a certainty that Woodrow Wilson will be again nominated by the Democrats, but doubt still shrands the choice of the Republicans. There is still considerable talk that Justice Hughes of the United States supreme court will finally nose out and while Republican leaders fear this may happen they believe that in the event of Hughes' election that they would receive no more attention

Friends of former Senator Elling Root of New York are passing along the word that his beam will have to be taken seriously. Moreover, they are engaged in trying to show that the Root strength throughout the country is much greater than might be supposed and includes the support of many of the Republicans who strayed off after the "Bull Moone" in 1912. It is said that Mr. Root would be entirely extintartory to Colonel Roosevell, and this should go a long way in lining up the Progressives. May Dissolve Parliament and Call for Another Election.

L INDON, Nov. 1.—(10:10 p. m.)—
The defeat of the Greek government in the chamber of deputies and the consequent resignation of the Zatimis cabinet is the latest sensation afforded by the Balkans.

While, of course, it was understood that Eleutherios Venizelos, the former premier, had it in his power to turn the government out whenever he so Political Game Is Beginning desired, having the majority in the chamber at his back, the full of Zaismis came unexpectedly as it was behe ed that the leader of the majority had decided to accord the premier sufficient support to enable him to remain in office for the present at

MENTIONED As so often happens, however, a vote of confidence was demanded by the government on a matter of minor importance—some difference of opinion between M. Venizelos and the minister of war, General Kanakitsas, on military proposals—and the gov-crament was defeated by a vote of 147 to 114.

Name Another Cabinet.

By handing the resignation of his cabinet to King Constantine, M. Zaimis again places on the king the re-sponsibility of deciding the future policy of his country. In London the first impression was that the defeat of the government would mean the immediate recall of M. Venizelos and the fulfillment of the original agreement between him and the all powers to go to the assistance Scelin

In this belief the news caused a distinct rally on the stock exchange Late dispatches from Athens, however, indicated a possible dissolution of parliament. Should this course be taken it would be at least two months before an election could be held and the new chamber meet in Athens, In the meantime either the Zaimis cabi-net, the resignation of which has not yet been accepted, with perhaps a change in the ministry of war, or some other cabinet favoring the king's policy of continued neutrality, would have charge of affairs and consequently there would be no change in the military situation.
